

morning

the morning comes even before night is done the dreams hang about like a stench casting doubt on reality but day is here with all its responsibility refusing to be denied a turn on the dance floor duduzile zamantungwa mabaso

Atlanta Review Spring/Summer 2018, p. 95